✕ Saturday Morning ✕

A1. Lean on Me

Howard Moore & Dick Porter

Have you ever been hiking and wished you had something to lean on or to give you balance? Come create a unique hiking stick. Unprepared sticks will be available at no cost. We will prepare the sticks with drawknives and finish with water-soluble polyurethane varnish. No carving skills needed. Class limit 12

A2. Destination Known or Unknown

Claire Cline

God didn't create a parking lot in seven days. God gave us the living, breathing world, full of life and spirit. And, as an added bonus, God sent along the map. We will venture through events that you can use or adapt to meet the interests & needs of your groups. From road trips & rallies, to scavenger hunts & other EDventures, join in the fun and excitement in planning, experiencing and remembering in & around the church

A3. Two Sticks and Some Yarn

Henrietta Moore

Beginners will learn the basic stitches in knitting to enable them to go home and finish a larger project. We'll talk about the thoughts behind the prayer shawl such as giving to Hospice patients, the homeless, those grieving the loss of loved ones, and others. Experienced knitters are welcome to come sit and help beginners while you knit. Needles and yarn will be provided.

A4. Got Rhythm?

Roger Maness

Get your toes tapping! No experience? No worries! An assortment of dances will be taught that can be used in a variety of settings - retreats, family nights, youth events - dance away with the music, instructions and confidence to enable others to enjoy God's gift of dance.

A5. Popcorn Theology

Croskeys Royal

There are many resources available to us these days and some of the richest of these are media and film. Rather than shy away from the culture that consumes so much time for us, we will celebrate it! Primarily using film, we will explore some of the spirituality and faith messages created by the media and how we in turn can use these resources in our own programming.

A6. Playing With All 5 Senses

Brenda Porter

Sniff it, touch it, ogle it, listen for it, or even taste it! Play games and participate in activities that use all our senses and help teach how to more fully experience God. You will go home with a list of resources and instructions for each game.

SARW 2009 Sensing God

XX Saturday Afternoon XX

B1. Picture This! - Croskeys Royal

Photography is a medium that can give us a glimpse of the divine. Explore how to use a digital camera & photographic techniques that can be employed from the moment the shot is snapped to post-processing giving you the pictures you want & ways to share them in a variety of settings. If possible, please bring your own digital camera!

B2. Use Your Noodle - Josh Jackson

Come join in the latest craze as we play games for 2 to 50 people using pool noodles. We will do ice-breakers, active games, brain teasers & fellowship-fostering activities to create a climate of fun. Non-swimmers welcome!!

B3. 50 Ways to Pray - Aimee Buchanan

Let us pray . . . with our minds, our hearts, our hands, our feet, our intellects, our imaginations . . . with all that we are. We'll cover everything: from how you turn a selection of scripture into a multiple stationed spirituality center to turning a walk in the woods into a prayer & incorporating prayer into every part of the rhythm of your day.

B4. Beyond Black & White - Deb Guess

There is nothing quite as satisfying as using brilliant colors to turn plain white pages into colorful works of art. We will use inks, paints, resists, dyes, pens, rubber stamps, and more to create a number of beautiful pages that can be used for a wide variety of creative projects (handmade books, stationery, scrapbooking, etc), including the "Dear God...." creative journal class offered on Sunday.

B5. Bread Baking - Beth Gunn

What could be better than the smell of freshly baked bread? Warm from the oven, sliced and ready to share – nothing says hospitality better than bread. We will mix, knead, punch, shape, bake & eat several types of bread. Bread making is truly an experience using all your senses.

XX Sunday Morning XX

D1. Where you Lead....Will Anyone Follow?? - Beth Gunn

Does your heart skip a beat when you are asked to lead? Fear no more! Explore practical ideas & basic leadership principles for leading recreation, singing, dance & Bible study. From transitions, to adaptations, to knowing when to stop and head in a different direction; leave more confident in your personal leadership style and abilities.

D2. Balls Galore - Craig Bell

Learn every kind of game imaginable using balls of all sorts and sizes. Ice breaking, active and inactive games will be included... a good start on building your recreation repertoire.

D3. Nature Meets Faith -Mary Woodfin

This workshop is designed for all who work with children – in Sunday School, After School Programs, Wednesday Night Programs, Vacation Church School. Using Bible stories in nature, we will explore activities to help children understand faith. We will utilize the outdoors and all of our senses to discover ways to "see" faith.

Bonus Workshop Dutch Oven Cooking

Learn the fine art of dutch oven cooking in this hands on bonus workshop which follows your normal Saturday afternoon class. You'll learn while you prepare our dutch oven dinner for all the participants. PLUS...you'll have the opportunity to cook, taste and share specialty dishes that won't be on the main menu for the evening.

D4. Dear God... - Deb Guess

Using embellished papers you made in Saturday's class or starting with fresh white pages (for those not in the embellishment class), we will make a simple handmade journal and fill it with color, words, doodling, prayers, poems, quotations, and collage. The class experience will help illustrate a wide variety of ways to listen to and talk with God via the creative journal experience.

D5. Beyond Style: Musical Worship That Engages the Spirit & Mind - Cheryl Glenn

Tired of the same 'ol, same 'ol when it comes to musical worship? Looking for new ideas and fresh interpretations of the old stuff? Look no further! Together we will learn how to creatively weave together a musical worship experience that will attract and engage all ages. In this class we will share resources, songs, and ideas for worship content, as well as talk about the importance of our worship context.... Bring instruments if you have them, but musical training is not a requirement!
