

AYM offers a broad based mission experience where each group experiences several different mission sites in the area. You might work one morning at Manna Food Bank, followed by an afternoon at Crisis Ministry. This could be followed by working with kids with special needs the next morning, then work at Veterans Restoration Quarters. The idea is to give participants a picture of the broad spectrum of needs out there and experience how they can make a difference in a variety of settings.

The program also includes several times of intentional mission debrief/interpretation, group building, and Bible Study using the arts to explore faith. So, your group might walk away with crosses they made out of trash or sticks they picked up at a site. They might make collages on painted canvases. They might make art journals throughout the week. For week long trips, these program times are usually Sunday night (orientation), Monday and Wednesday evening, and a Friday morning worship time before groups depart. For weekend trips, we usually do Friday night orientation, Sat night program, and worship on Sunday morning. For shorter trips in the summer, we work out program times based on the groups needs and length of stay.

Registration fees include room, groceries for everything except Sunday dinner and your free day dinner, program, and a part of the fee going as seed money for the work at the sites.
